

CTEF | 2013

CARIBBEAN TOURISM : THE ENERGY FORUM

Connecting Caribbean Hotels & Resorts to World-Class Providers of Energy Technology, Financing & Expertise

Barceló Bávaro Palace Deluxe, Punta Cana,
Dominican Republic

December 10th - 11th, 2013

CO-HOSTS

International
Finance Corporation
World Bank Group

SUPPORTED BY

CARIBBEAN
HOTEL & TOURISM
ASSOCIATION

What is CTEF?

Caribbean Tourism: The Energy Forum (CTEF) is the first event to gather the hospitality, energy and finance sectors to explore and define how Caribbean resorts and hotels can substantially lower their electricity bills through the implementation of world-class renewable energy and energy savings programs. The first annual CTEF will take place at the Barcelo Bavaro Palace Deluxe from December 10-11, 2013.

Why CTEF?

The price of electricity is adversely impacting the bottom-line competitiveness of many Caribbean hotels and resorts. Solutions are available but, amongst many obstacles confronting owners and operators, financing is often difficult to secure, the regulatory environment remains unfavorable in many markets, and the array of programs and products offered by ESCOs and other technology providers can be bewildering. Against this backdrop, CTEF will provide hoteliers and resort owners with access to the tools, financing, case-studies and contacts to make good energy decisions and smart energy investments.

Why Attend CTEF?

- Meet your peers from across the region in a highly focused, high-level setting. Learn what they are doing to mitigate the high price of electricity
- Learn from case-studies of resorts/hotels which have successfully implemented best-in-class renewable energy and energy savings programs
- Meet providers of capital, from commercial banks and multilaterals to private equity firms and ESCOs
- Get to grips with the latest in global RE/EE technologies; meet world-class technology providers
- Understand the range of financing models available for RE/EE programs
- Leave CTEF better informed, better connected, and better able to reduce the cost of your property's energy bill

Who Will Attend?

- Caribbean Hotel/Resort Owner/Operators
- Caribbean Tourism/Hotel Associations
- Caribbean Governments
- Caribbean Power Utilities
- ESCOs
- Commercial & Investment Banks; Private Equity Firms
- Development banks organizations e.g. IDB, IFC, EIB
- Technology Providers

How Much does it Cost to Attend?

The full rate to attend CTEF is US$1,090.00. For hotel and resort executives the fee is US$295.00. The all-inclusive rate at the Barcelo Bavaro Palace Deluxe is US$192.00 per night.

Who is Hosting CTEF?

CTEF is co-hosted by the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), the International Finance Corporation (IFC) and the Government of the Dominican Republic. CTEF is produced by New Energy Events, the organizers of the Caribbean Renewable Energy Forum (CREF), the largest energy event in the region.

How Do I Find Out More & Register To Attend

Please visit www.caritourismenergyforum.com. To register please follow the links and apply discount code HOTEL2013 to secure the rate of US$295.00.

FOR ANY ADDITIONAL QUERIES, PLEASE CONTACT:
MATTHEW PERKS, CEO
NEW ENERGY EVENTS LLC
AT MPERKS@NEWENERGYEVENTS.COM

NEW ENERGY
EVENTS

 CTEF | 2013
CARIBBEAN TOURISM : THE ENERGY FORUM

