CARIBBEAN
HOTEL & TOURISM
ASSOCIATION
EDUCATION FOUNDATION

What is the Caribbean Hotel & Tourism Education Foundation?

Goal: To improve and elevate the quality and professionalism of the hotel and tourism industry in the Caribbean and Central America through education and training.

The largest charitable program in the Caribbean hospitality industry.

Has raised and awarded more than US$2.5 million in scholarships and grants in the last 10-years.

Awards up to 35 tuition scholarships, totaling up to US$150,000 annually

Funds internationally recognized certification and credentialing courses; providing immediate, tangible results for the industry.

In 2019, the CHTA Education Foundation has funded Development Day Training Courses in six destinations, providing training opportunities to more than 650 industry professionals in disciplines like, Customer Service, Housekeeping, Engineering, and Leadership & Management

Funds raised through the generosity of numerous hotels and resorts in the region, who donate hotel stays to be auctioned.

Hotels which donate are represented by CHTAEF at New York Times Travel show

Additionally, funds are derived from generous support of corporate partners, including Interval International and Virgin Holidays.
